Assistant or Associate Professor (End-Point Assessment Lead)

Position Overview

Department	Experiential Digital Global Education (EDGE); Innovation Unit (London)
Location	London, Work from Home
Term	Full-time; Permanent
Salary	£38,000 - £55,000
Benefits	Generous benefits package including 25 days holiday allowance (excl. Bank holidays), group life assurance, group income protection, pension schemes and private healthcare (optional)
Start	ASAP

The role

Northeastern University London wishes to appoint an Assistant or Associate Professor (End-Point Assessment Lead) to lead the End-Point Assessment (EPA) for our degree apprenticeship portfolio, with expertise in one or more of the following areas:
- Data Science
- Data Analytics
- Business Analysis
- Cyber Security
- Software Engineering
- System Testing
- IT Business Strategy

The key responsibilities include, but are not limited to:
- Develop and manage the End-Point Assessment (EPA) function for both integrated and non-integrated degree apprenticeship programmes
- Perform EPA as the lead assessor and manage associate independent assessors
- Coordinate EPA processes in line with the regulations
- Develop relevant training materials

You will be required to work collaboratively: liaising with expert faculty, a team of learning experience designers, industry and academic partners (in both the UK and US) and engaging in wider educational and administrative duties.

We particularly encourage applications from those interested in innovative teaching (including short courses, micro-credentials and the use of technology in education); those with experience supporting a wide variety of students; and those belonging to groups underrepresented in UK higher education. We are open to appointing on a reduced fraction/job-share basis subject to our business needs.

The role is suitable for remote working, providing the appointee can attend the campus for face-to-face work in London when required.

About EDGE

EDGE (Experiential, Digital, Global, Education) is part of Northeastern University's Global Network and is dedicated to designing and delivering work-related learning throughout the UK and internationally. The EDGE team work remotely, using innovative pedagogical approaches and best practice in digital education and collaboration to ensure an excellent learner experience for individuals or groups of learners, wherever they are based. The EDGE team currently delivers a growing portfolio of work-related learning aligned to digital transformation, data science, artificial intelligence, and project management.

Person Specification:

Qualifications

- PhD, or equivalent professional experience, or equivalent qualification, in a relevant area of data science or computer science (essential)
- Higher education teaching qualification, e.g. PGcert, PGCHE, FHEA (desirable)

Key Criteria

- Experience in UK HE assessment (minimum of 3 years) (essential)
- Knowledge and experience of degree apprenticeship End-Point Assessment (EPA) (essential)
- Experience in teaching at undergraduate and/or postgraduate level (essential)
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills including presentation skills, both face-to-face and online (essential)
- Ability to develop excellent and cutting-edge online courses in data science and/or computer science that will have significant appeal to learners, including those in work-based settings (essential)
- Flexibility and capacity to teach (predominantly remotely) across a range of courses (essential)

Devon House, 58 St Katharine's Way, London, E1W 1LP, United Kingdom | Tel +44 (0)20 7637 4550 | nchlondon.ac.uk

New College of the Humanities | Registered in England no. 07317195 | Registered office as above | Registered charity no. 1189858

- Willingness and capacity to undertake continuous professional development in relation to the use of technology, software, and data in relation to the subject areas (essential)
- Ability to engage and develop working relationships with faculty, learning designers and technologists, relevant employers and with counterparts across the Northeastern University network (essential)
- Willingness and capacity to exercise appropriate leadership in the development of the subject areas, and to do so through interdisciplinary collaboration with other fields (essential)
- Knowledge and experience of Designated Quality Body in England (DQB) regulations and guidance (desirable)
- Professional experience outside higher education is desirable (desirable)

Enquiries

Informal enquiries may be made to Yu-Chun Pan (yu-chun.pan@nchlondon.ac.uk). However, all applications must be made in accordance with the application process specified.

Application process

Applications should be made via this link by 20.00, 28th November 2022. Please reference your application "APEPA1022". Due to the business's need to appoint at the earliest opportunity, the University may review applications before the deadline and make an appointment. For this reason, early application is encouraged.

Please ensure that you use the application form provided on the link, and provide a CV and cover letter detailing your experience. Please consult our generic academic job description and role characteristics at the following link.

Participation in the equal opportunities section is encouraged, but voluntary.

Applications are welcome from all sections of the community and will be judged on merit alone. Candidates must be able to demonstrate their eligibility to work in the UK in accordance with the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006. The University may be able to provide Tier 2 sponsorship for this position, depending on individual circumstances

Devon House, 58 St Katharine's Way, London, E1W 1LP, United Kingdom | Tel +44 (0)20 7637 4550 | nchlondon.ac.uk

New College of the Humanities | Registered in England no. 07317195 | Registered office as above | Registered charity no. 1189858