The Role

Northeastern University London wishes to appoint an Assistant Professor (Teaching & Scholarship) in Information Systems and Project Management. The appointee will help develop our UK undergraduate and postgraduate degree apprenticeship programmes including but not limited to the area of Information Systems and Project Management and provide general service to the University within and across faculties. In the first instance, the successful candidate will be expected to contribute to the development and delivery of the university's online MSc Digital and Technology Solutions, BSc Digital and Technology Solutions, and BSc Project Management with Digital Technologies.

We wish to appoint a specialist in Information Systems and Project Management. Preference may be given to candidates with experience of English apprenticeships and active interests in the relationship of emerging technologies.

Core duties will include the development and teaching of cutting-edge courses in Information Systems and Project Management both online and on campus, assessment and moderation, student support, peer review, etc. Indicative subject areas may include (but are not limited to) Information Systems, Business Computing, Information Technologies, Digital Transformation, Portfolio Management, and Project Planning & Delivery.

We particularly encourage applications from those with an interest in innovative teaching, learning and assessment; those with experience of supporting a wide variety of students; and those belonging to groups underrepresented in UK higher education. We are open to appointing on a reduced fraction/job-share basis subject to our business needs.

Discipline/ Faculty

The appointee will work in a multidisciplinary, cross-faculty team responsible for the degree apprenticeship programmes that span the Faculty of Social Sciences and the Faculty of Computing, Mathematics, Engineering and Natural Sciences.

The cross-faculty degree apprenticeship team uses innovative pedagogical approaches and best practices in digital education and collaboration to ensure an excellent learner experience for individuals or groups of learners, wherever they are based. The team currently delivers a growing portfolio of work-related learning aligned to accounting and finance, digital transformation, data science, artificial intelligence, and project management.

About the University
